

About Department of Chemistry, NEHU
North-Eastern Hill University (NEHU), the pioneer in higher education in the north-eastern region of India and a destination for higher studies and research for national and international scholars. The Department of Chemistry, established in 1976 to impart chemistry teaching and learning, is known worldwide for its contribution to the field of research. The department receives various academic and research grants such as, UGC-SAP-DSA, DST-FIST and UGC-Centre for Advanced Studies (UGC-CAS).

CALL FOR POSTER

A one-page abstract of the oral/poster presentation have to be uploaded using the link available in the symposium website.

Thematic Areas

- ❖ Organometallics and Catalysis
- ❖ Supramolecular Chemistry
- ❖ Photochemistry & Spectroscopy
- ❖ Green Chemistry
- ❖ Main Group Chemistry
- ❖ Medicinal Chemistry
- ❖ Nanomaterials and Polymer Science
- ❖ Coordination and Bio-inorganic Chemistry
- ❖ Synthetic and heterocyclic chemistry
- ❖ Theoretical and Computational Chemistry

Invited Speakers

Prof. M. Schmittel	Prof. S. Kozuch
Prof. C. Chi	Prof. N. Pradhan
Prof. P. S. Mukherjee	Prof. M. Bhattacharjee
Prof. S. Bhattacharya	Prof. S. Khan
Prof. P. K. Iyer	Prof. J. K. Bera
Prof. M. Ghorai	Prof. S. Dasgupta
Prof. S. Santra	Prof. B. Sahoo
Prof. S. De	Prof. N. Karak
Prof. P. Mal	Prof. T. Ghosh
Prof. S. Pramanik	Prof. S. Konar
Prof. G.K. Dutta	Dr. P. Roy

Objectives of ETCS-2023

The aim and objective of ETCS-2023 is to deliberate upon Emerging Trends in Chemistry and provides a platform for dialogues among the participants on emerging developments in the frontier areas in chemistry. This conference is expected to draw national participants both from industry and academia. It also embarks upon exploration of meaningful collaboration among the participants to achieve shared objectives. It is expected that the conference results constitute a significant contribution to the updated knowledge in the field of chemistry.
