

North-Eastern Hill University (NEHU), Shillong is one of the premier research universities in the country and the first central university of the North-East India. Since its inception in the year 1973, the university has made profound impact not only on higher education and research, but also overall improvement of socio-economic landscape of the hilly areas of North-East, especially the state of Meghalaya. On the mandate of University Grants Commission (UGC), NEHU instituted the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) in the year 2004 to develop a culture that encourages quality as the cornerstone of academics and research. The role of IQAC has expanded over the years well beyond the scope of academics to assure quality in administration and finance as well.

Objectives

Four-Year Undergraduate Program (FYUP) of NEHU was introduced from 2023-2024 academic session in all its affiliated colleges. The colleges are doing incredible job in addressing the faculty and infrastructure deficit in the colleges to implement the ambitious program that added new elements such as a greater number of major papers, multidisciplinary courses, skill enhancement courses, vocational training and education courses, value-added courses, and many more. The conference aims to hear detail analysis from the colleges in various aspects of implementation of NEP program, the hurdles, and possible solutions to address the issues. We hope to find innovative approaches in addressing the issues besides having a discussion on the curriculum framework itself. On March 12, papers will be presented by members of various colleges under NEHU besides lectures from the invited speakers and panel discussions among the participants will be held on March 13 to prepare a roadmap for effective implementation of FYUP.
